DESCRIPCIÓN PERSONAL

Hello to you

Hopefully Parents to a newborn baby
or maybe two - who knows

I'm happy to be a part of your dream
or at least lending you a hand to fulfill it. I'm also writing this letter in respect. Respect of you not abandoning the idea of getting a child, just because you need someone else to help.

That takes courage. I am a happy, healthy, hardworking man - who always strive to be better than I was yesterday -
better at my job, better as a colleague,
as a friend, as family and better to my surroundings. It is with honor and ^{joy}
that I gift you with the most sacred -
I have - life.

I hope this letter makes some sort of sense

Best of luck in the future!

SKAT's score distribution

Quotient: 110

Level: SKAT's scores indicate that on the whole, he has a good awareness of both his, and other people's, emotions.

SKAT's personality graph

SKAT's strengths

SKAT is very flexible and can easily cope with change. He is very able to adjust his behaviour and attitudes, and show flexibility when dealing with others.

SKAT is very able to say what he thinks and how he feels, even in situations where others may disagree with him. He does not run away from confrontation, and is excellent at defending his point of view and opinions.

SKAT can easily understand and relate to people's emotions. He is able to interpret body language and other unspoken signals, and has excellent insight into other people's feelings and intentions.

SKAT's weaknesses

SKAT may find it hard to control negative emotions such as stress, anger or frustration when in difficult situations. He tends to let his emotions cloud his judgements, which could cause him to lack clarity and objectivity in stressful situations.

SKAT appears to focus too much on the negative aspects of situations and on the possibility that things will turn out badly. Consequently, he may miss out on seizing interesting opportunities because he believes that they are bound to fail.

SKAT can have a lot of trouble getting motivated by himself to tackle projects and activities. He is likely to rely too much on external stimulation to remain enthusiastic about his goals, which may deter him from reaching his objectives.

Advice for SKAT:

In situations of stress or conflict, SKAT should try to take a step back and view the situation from an outsider's perspective, before reacting spontaneously. This would allow him to have a more objective view, making it easier to control his reactions.

SKAT should strive to look at the positive aspects of situations and remember that he can help influence the turn of events, by finding the bright side of any negative situation. By being open to things turning out well, SKAT will learn to seize all opportunities that come his way and progress with a more optimistic attitude.

SKAT should start trying to improve his self-motivation by setting reachable goals for himself and making sure that he rewards himself, when he reaches them. In time, this will help SKAT to find the inner drive to remain enthusiastic even with challenging projects.

An interpretation of SKAT's score

Intrapersonal intelligence

Self-knowledge

SKAT is likely to spend time introspecting and reflecting on himself and his emotions. In most situations, he has an accurate understanding of why he feels a certain way, and can predict his emotional reactions and control them. In very emotionally demanding situations, SKAT may at times find this difficult, which might prevent him from having good emotional strength in those situations. However, on the whole, he has a good level of self-knowledge.

Self-control

SKAT may have difficulty keeping negative emotions to himself when faced with stressful or unusual situations. Being a passionate individual, this could lead him to react or make decisions in an impulsive manner. Difficult situations may also overwhelm him and obscure his judgement.

Self-regard

Being aware of his good qualities as well as shortcomings, SKAT has an accurate image of himself. He knows who he is and what he is worth, and accepts himself for who he is. He has a good level of self-esteem which helps him to not be overly affected by other people's opinions.

Self-confidence

SKAT is self-confident and believes in his own abilities. In most situations, he is not likely to doubt his decisions or question himself, and he is not afraid of setting challenging targets for himself. SKAT may at times doubt himself in very unfamiliar or challenging situations, which could prevent him from taking full advantage of new opportunities in those situations. However, on the whole, he has a good level of self-confidence.

Self-motivation

SKAT has a sense of self-motivation that often helps him get through his projects and allows him to remain enthusiastic despite adversities. However, with demanding projects, he might focus more on the difficulties and might lack perseverance.

Optimism

SKAT can sometimes focus on the possibility of poor outcomes and is a little pessimistic. He might let opportunities pass him by because he expects them to have negative results. However, he can usually see the positives when in more straightforward situations, and is unlikely to let the negatives slow him down too much.

Resilience

SKAT is generally able to recover easily after a failure, and tends to view setbacks and mistakes as learning experiences that allow him/her to grow. However, SKAT might have a difficult time bouncing back when he does not have the necessary support. In such instances, it might take SKAT longer to start focusing on the future again instead of dwelling on the past.

Flexibility

SKAT is good at adapting his thought processes and behaviours to new situations. He is able to tailor his actions to contexts that he is not used to in order to cope effectively with changes. In possibly unexpected circumstances, SKAT is therefore able to adapt and comfortably handle the situation.

An interpretation of SKAT's score

Interpersonal intelligence

Expressing emotions

SKAT is able to communicate his emotions to others, enabling those around him to know how he feels and provide him with appropriate advice and support. As a result, he is likely to be able to work through negative emotions efficiently. With very sensitive topics, SKAT may keep his feelings to himself, which may prevent him from working through his emotions in those situations. However, on the whole, he is comfortable expressing his emotions.

Assertiveness

SKAT is comfortable expressing his opinions and views. He often puts forth his ideas and articulates them with conviction, even in the face of disagreement. He is not likely to hesitate speaking his mind even if it entails contradicting others.

Empathy

SKAT appears to interpret the intentions and emotions of others accurately and rarely misses deeper or more subtle signals. As a result, SKAT can efficiently put himself in other people's shoes, understand what they are feeling, and respond to them appropriately. This helps SKAT to relate well to others and provide them with good emotional support when needed.

Tactfulness

SKAT tends not to take much time to think about how to present his words in a sensitive manner, before communicating. This can result in him often presenting his opinions as they are with little embellishment, and occasionally speaking without consideration for others, which could perhaps cause offence without meaning to. SKAT can however recognise when a situation requires more tact and will be able to adapt his words accordingly.

Dealing with diversity

SKAT seems to easily recognise and value differences in cultures and backgrounds, allowing him to benefit from appreciating the advantages that diversity of thought and ideas can bring. In very novel situations, he may at times have difficulty accepting differences, which may sometimes make it difficult for him to work in highly diverse environments. However, on the whole, he has a good level of appreciation for diversity.

Motivating others

SKAT appears to be able to motivate others when they are feeling discouraged or unenthusiastic about meeting their objectives. He can raise the morale of such individuals, in order to stimulate them towards reaching their goals. However, he may struggle in difficult situations when his co-workers have lost a lot of their drive.

Mediation

In most situations, SKAT is good at managing conflict and reconciling diverging points of view in situations of disagreement. He is able to remain objective in disputes, and see the value in both sides' viewpoints. In very tense or personal disputes, SKAT may at times find it difficult to be objective and present a middle ground that both parties would find appealing, in order to ease tension and find a compromise. However, on the whole, he is able to mediate situations well.
